

THE WEATHER:
Today, rain; tomorrow, cloudy and cooler. Highest temperature, yesterday, 40; lowest, 30. Details on page 10.

NO. 5182.

Entered as Second Class Mail Matter at the Postoffice, Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON, D. C., SATURDAY, JANUARY 8, 1921.

Published Every Morning in the Year; By Carrier, $1.50 a Year; By Mail, $1.50.

TWO CENTS.

SOCIETY PAGE
Daily and Sunday contains news, chatty items of the capital's social set, together with interesting gossip on doings in New York.

CABINET MAY NOT BE FIXED TIL TRIP SOUTH

President-elect Not Likely to Decide Definitely Until Inaugural Eve.

HUGHES STOCK NOW IN MIDST OF SLUMP

David Jayne Hill Looms As Probable Secretary of State.

By FREDERIC WILLIAM WILE.
Writing to a friend in Washington this week, President-elect Harding said: "I think it will be no indiscretion to say in reply to your note that the choosing of a Cabinet is very much of a job." The letter from Marion was not addressed to a portfolio-seeker. It was sent to a comrade who had accompanied New Year greetings with congratulations on the trials and tribulations of a President-elect.

Since I stated in the Washington Herald a week ago that Mr. Harding's mind on the Cabinet still is in a state of flux, more of the big Republicans he is consulting at Marion have returned to Washington. Their evidence is unanimous. They think that the President-elect actually may not definitely decide on the make-up of the Cabinet until the eve of inauguration. They predict that his final composition will be fixed on the Southern golf links, where Mr. Harding plans to escape the maddening throng some time between January 15 and March 4. His process for "harmonization" is not yet complete.

Hill Now Looms.
Within the past week there has been a decided slump as far as Washington speculations are concerned, in the stock of Charles Evans Hughes for the Secretaryship of State. David Jayne Hill now looms. Senator Penrose has been quoted at the Capitol as insisting upon a "red-blooded" Secretary of State, whose mind will go along with the Senate majority in foreign affairs.

The New York lawyer and former Supreme Court Justice is not considered at Capitol Hill to measure up to the high standard of particular enthusiasm for a Hughes Secretaryship of State. The chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee said he was partial to David Jayne Hill. Mr. Hughes' "league" views, as well as his inherent independence and ruggedness of character, are depicted as qualities that militate against his "availability" to the President-elect. They liked his Bridgeport campaign speech as assailing Article X of the covenant, and call it the most masterly argument of that phase of the issue that emanated from any quarter. But they are not so enamored of it that Hughes can use it as their passport into the State Department. It is an open secret in Washington that the President-elect is having an invisible, but nevertheless real, battle royal over Hughes, whom he is known to be anxious to have.

Beck's Name Mentioned.
If for various reasons, neither Hughes nor Root is to be Secretary of State, Washington wiseacres pick James M. Beck as a compromise candidate. Beck is certain to be "taken care of" by the President-elect. He is a Republican party during the past eight years. He has recently bought a house at the Capital and manifestly is in mood expectant of a berth in the White House. He is mentioned as possible Undersecretary of State in case neither obtains the presidency.

At one time former Senator Herbert Sutherland, of Utah, was in the running for the State Department. He was very close to Mr. Harding throughout the campaign and, with George Harvey, advised resolutely on international questions. But Sutherland is a native-born Englishman, and Mr. Harding is hardly likely to appoint as his minister of foreign affairs a man so "trained."

Hill Has Backing.
David Jayne Hill has strong backing. It includes George Harvey and some of the most important Republican influences in Washington, and ardent supporters in the business world. Hill himself has been a regular of regulars in the G. O. P. organization for many years.

Two Dead in Border Battle.
SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 7.—State troopers today were on their way south to a point along the Rio Grande, following a pitched battle which took place last night between half a dozen rangers and a dozen Mexican liquor smugglers. During the fight 100 shots were exchanged, and two of the Mexicans were reported killed.

Converted; Has Diamond Teeth Fillings Pulled

Dentists have removed six one and a half carat diamonds from the teeth of George T. Cochran, wealthy Syracuse sportsman, best known as "Diamond George," and the only rival of the late "Diamond Jim" Brady of New York.

Cochran retired from sporting circles as a result of hitting the trail at the first revival held here by Billy Sunday. His wife also became a convert, and that time, since then they have been actively identified with the Puritan Street Methodist Episcopal Church, and Cochran has been in great demand as a speaker at church functions, as a leading member of the Trail Hitters' Association.

Cochran's passion for diamonds led him to have three big diamonds inserted in each of his front teeth. He wore a five-carat diamond stickpin, and his shirt-studs were three-carat each. His watch was set with thirteen one carat stones in the shape of a horseshoe. Half-carat diamonds adorned each button of his vest.

PRESENTS BILL FIXING TERMS OF CHILD LABOR

Drastic Regulations on Work and School Attendance for Juveniles.

Senator Curtis, of Kansas, yesterday introduced the District bill regulating child labor and providing for compulsory school attendance. It is the same bill upon which hearings were held by committees of both branches of Congress about a year ago, minus Section 20, which penalized parents who permitted children to work in violation of the law.

Under the bill a Bureau of Attendance and Work Permits, with a chief receiving $3,000 a year, is established. It provides that no child under 15 years of age shall be employed, except in domestic duties and on farms and gardens, and fixes the time at not more than six days a week nor more than eight hours a day, between 6 a. m. and 6 p. m., for those over 15 permitted to work. Employers are required to post printed notices giving the hours and other particulars.

Committee to Govern.
The District Commissioners are authorized to appoint a board of five members, consisting of the District health officer, the chief labor inspector, a representative of employers, a representative of employees, and a representative of the public. The board is to regulate the trade or occupation in all cases is dangerous to life or limb or injurious to health or morals, and to issue orders where required to protect children or juveniles from engaging in any objectionable occupation.

No female under 21 years old is permitted under the bill to carry on any occupation, trade or business, or is any male under 21 years old between the hours of 10 p. m. and 5 a. m.

Must Have Permits.
Restrictions are placed upon the employment of children as acrobats, rope-walkers, gymnasts, contortionists, or in any exhibition, demeaning or degrading. Employers of children permitted to work under the law must obtain permits from the newly created bureau, specifying occupation, sex, color and other particulars, and records will be kept by the bureau. Lists are to be provided the school officials weekly. In obtaining permits children must appear in person, accompanied by parents or guardians. Details must be given by employers.

Certificates of the physical fitness of the child employed must be provided, as well as a birth certificate or certified transcript of the birth certificate issued by the registrar of vital statistics and a duly certified baptismal record, showing place of baptism. The passport or certificate of passport is exacted in the case of a foreign-born child. In the certificate of health demanded, the height and weight of the child must be given with other details.

Penalty for Violation.
Fines ranging from $50 to $500, and imprisonment from ten days to one year are prescribed. A corresponding bill has been introduced by a subcommittee of the House of which Representative Reed, of West Virginia, is chairman, and is ready to be reported to the House. The House District Committee is expected to meet about Thursday of next week.

Alberta Farmers Hold Enormous Wheat Supply

Official estimates from the provincial department of agriculture place the wheat crop average per acre in Alberta this year at 25 bushels. The Edmonton Journal, analyzing the figures, declares that it represents a total wheat yield for the province of 30,000,000 bushels. This is 10,000,000 bushels in excess of the highest previous estimate, and is 30,000,000 bushels more than the previous highest yield.

FORGED LIQUOR PERMITS REACH INTO MILLIONS

Kramer Promises Drive On Dishonest Aides In Department.

SPURIOUS BLANKS ARE FOUND IN N. Y.

Several Arrests Made. Trail Between Gotham And Washington.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Revenue chiefs in New York tonight, acting in co-operation with government heads in Washington, were prepared to sift revelations of alleged corruption in enforcement of the Volstead act, to the bottom.

Discoveries that illegal permits for huge quantities of liquor valued at $100,000,000 had been issued, but that it was said, until definite ends had been reached, regardless of who may become involved.

Prohibition Commissioner Kramer in Washington has announced his intention to carry the investigation to the limit and has said that he will not let up until every crooked employee of the department has been thrown out.

Vast Amounts Involved.
The extent of the secret traffic in liquor was learned yesterday when it was announced that agents had either in their possession or denominated thousands of forged permits for liquor removal whereby millions of gallons of liquor worth $100,000,000 were illegally withdrawn from distilleries and bonded warehouses and brought to New York.

This vast illegal turn over of alcoholic beverages was for New York City alone. In the hands of the Internal Revenue Bureau now, there are about 1,000 of the forged permits, each specifying from one barrel to 10,000 cases.

Most of them are said to bear the counterfeit signature of Charles R. O'Connor, Federal Prohibition Director for New York State.

More Forged Permits.
Twenty forged permits found yesterday brought the total discovered actually in O'Connor's office to 200, representing $2,000,000 worth of liquor. On these permits 2,000 cases of whiskey and 45 barrels have been released, but 1,000 cases and 75 barrels have been stopped.

The discovery of the illegal traffic in alcohol has been made possible by the arrest of various persons accused of complicity in the offices of the various prohibition agents. The most important arrest was that of Lawrence Malawista, agent of the National Surety Company, arrested at his company's offices on the charge of offering one of the agents a bribe to obtain a basic permit.

Arraigned before United States Commissioner Hitchcock, he was held in $5,000 bail for a hearing. Malawista is said to have been in the city with William F. McCoy, formerly a clerk in O'Connor's office, who was arraigned on a charge of conspiracy and who is believed to have acted as a connective link between New York and Washington members of the ring.

NEW YORK WOMEN PLAN CHILD DRIVE

Fifty Clubs to Push Relief For Starving Babies Of Europe.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Fifty women's organizations came together this morning in the auditorium of the Engineering Building to hear Herbert Hoover speak and to make definite plans for joint work as the women's emergency committee of the European Relief Council.

"Take a child and place a child" is to be the slogan for the three weeks' intensive work to raise New York's gift to the required $2,500,000.

As the roll was called a representative of each stated which of the various methods of attack was to be used—circularization or canvassing of members by teams, entertainments, or the appointment of a petition filed with the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections by Charles Evans Hughes yesterday. He contends the Federal corrupt practices act, under which Truman H. Newberry was convicted of conspiracy, is unconstitutional.

Five Americans in Toils After Canadian Roundup

MONTREAL, Canada, Jan. 7.—Four hundred criminals, including five Americans, were rounded up here today by the police on an order to rid the city of criminals at large. All men with known records or of suspicious character, were gathered in by the officers.

Whites Must Rule to Insure G. O. P. in South, Taft Says

Says Negroes Would Hurt Selves by Demanding Full Rights Provided in Constitution of Nation.

By WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

The favorable prospect for growth in Republican strength in the South has been commented on in these columns. The promoters of the movement in the different States are many of them former Democrats, and they are very insistent that it must be a white party, in the sense that it must be in control of white men. They say that if the negroes, whose voting power is negligible, are permitted to share in the management, the movement will fail. They admit that negroes are denied their electoral rights, which the Fifteenth Amendment was passed to secure, but they press the point that there is no remedy for this and urge that the only hope the negro has of securing his right to vote is in developing his intelligence and economic utility, so that individual negroes of character and intelligence may gradually be accorded to them what is theirs now by right. They would welcome a division of negroes between the two parties because it would, end the danger of a solid negro party, which is the ghost so often raised to frighten impatient Democrats back into the fold.

Immediately upon Harding's accession to power a phase of this question is likely to arise for his consideration. Vacancies will occur in the local Federal offices in the Southern States. In many districts will be found colored men competent to fill these places so far as intelligence, character and experience are concerned. These men have always been Republicans, and often the only Republicans within the district. Their friends will urge that the negro of the South is entitled to the recognition which such appointments will be. The vote of the negroes of the North is essential to Republican success, and the party should not abandon their brethren in the South. The great opportunity for encouragement is at hand. The promoters of the white Republican party in the South meet this plea with two vigorous objections. They say, first, that the psychology of the situation is that the great mass of whites in every town that is not wholly colored will bitterly resent having to do business with a colored man. They say, secondly, that the position, and that this fact will much interfere with efficiency and dispatch in the doing of the public business. They do not undertake to justify this condition, but they say it is a fact that no argument against it as the result of unjust prejudice will remove.

Their second objection to the policy of making negroes Federal local officials in the South is that such appointments will injure in the South, the best friends the negroes have in the South are the good, liberal white Southerners, who are using all their efforts to help their race but that they will lose their respect and become alienated if the race question is thrown acutely into Southern politics against such appointments.

The door of the justice and virtue of Roosevelt's demand that the door of hope should not be closed to the negro by making him practically ineligible to official preferment for which he is fitted, and admit that such recognition of the negro race as Americans by appointment of competent representatives of it to public office is a real help, useful encouragement. But they maintain that the offices conferred should be in Washington or in the North, where the feeling upon this point is not so strained or sensitive. They point out that there are offices of dignity and importance in Washington to which representative colored men can well be appointed and which they are entirely competent to fill, and that such appointments are far more useful in giving the colored electorate a sense of official participation in the government than merely local appointments in the South.

Appointments of this national character will create no popular prejudice obstructive to the smooth discharge of the public business, and will not freshly incite racial feeling against negroes or interfere with their material progress in the South. The issue thus made between the "liberal" and the "conservative" so-called "Black and Tan" will come before Harding soon after he takes up the reins of power. If he shall be able by his decision to secure Republican parties of strength in the Southern States, even if he disappoints negro applicants or office in the South, he will greatly help the negroes of the South, because we can be very sure that Republican white legislators of the South will be quick to do justice to the negro in the division of the school funds and that Republican executives will do all that is possible in the suppression of the Ku Klux Klan.

Radio Concert in Anacostia Heard At Thousand Receiving Stations, Including Some in Canada and Cuba

A concert given by Washington vocalists at the Anacostia Naval Air Station last night was heard in parts of Canada, Cuba, the east coast of South America, and on board ships at sea within a radius of 1,000 miles, by means of the wireless telephone. Officials at the station estimated that at upward of 1,000 receiving stations were "listening in" on the concert.

The concert was heard in the lecture room of the Research University, 20 Jackson place, where a receiving set had been erected, as clearly as though it were being reproduced by a phonograph. The artists who participated in the concert were: Miss Frances Scheraga, Mrs. Elanor Daisie, president of the Rubenstein Club; Miss Nellie Galey, vocal instructor at the Research University, and Dr. Louis Rapier, president of the Research University.

Comdr. A. H. Taylor, in charge of the Anacostia station, said that this was the first time a concert has been transmitted over the wireless.

Hendrick Deplores District Salaries

A solid front of citizens and Commissioners to back up the demands of the District before Congress was asked by Commissioner Hendrick in a speech before the Cathedral Heights Citizens' Association last night.

The pay of District employees, for which an amendment had been asked of Congress, was deplored by Commissioner Hendrick. He declared District employees were underpaid worse than any class of workers in the country.

The association endorsed the appointment of Mabel T. Boardman and J. Thilman Hendrick as Commissioners. The opening of Thirty-fourth street northeast from Woolley lane to Garfield street, was asked in a resolution which was passed. W. E. Cotton was elected chairman of the safety first committee, and E. M. Weeks was chosen chairman of the public utilities committee.

CUBAN CRISIS RUMORS FLOAT OVER CAPITOL

Senate and House Agog Over Situation Not Fully Divulged.

KNOX URGES VISIT TO DECIDE ACTION

Politics Thought Basic Factor—Gen. Crowder Now There.

By ROBERT BARRY.

Congressional inquiry into Cuban affairs appeared likely yesterday. Representations of such strength have been made to leaders at the Capitol that personal study of the situation is being considered. Conditions on the island republic were reported to have reached a more acute stage than heretofore disclosed.

There were numerous informal conferences among Senators as to the proper thing for Congress to do. Senator Philander C. Knox, of Pennsylvania, urged Senator Hiram W. Johnson, of California, chairman of the Senate Committee on Cuban Relations, to have the committee visit Cuba to obtain information at first-hand for possible action by Congress.

Representative Horace W. Towner, of Iowa, chairman of the House Committee on Insular Affairs, declared that he had been requested to name a subcommittee to make the trip on behalf of the House. That he declined to do so, but said that several individual members had discussed the advisability of going. Senator Johnson will call a meeting of his committee to determine whether a resolution ordering the inquiry shall be offered in the Senate.

Ask Who Will Go?
The Cuban Relations Committee has five members. They are Senators Johnson, Knox and Medill McCormick, of Illinois, Republicans; Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, and Nathaniel B. Dial, of South Carolina, Democrats. Mr. McCormick is in Europe. It is not likely that he will make the trip. Underwood's duties as minority floor leader would prohibit his taking the journey.

Senators in the Senate cloak-rooms over Cuban affairs were not explained, except that urgent representations had been made that affairs had reached a very acute stage. Senator Underwood declared he was not advised as to any specific occurrence or report which was responsible for the obvious fears of sensational developments.

Mr. Gen. Enoch H. Crowder, sent to Cuba by President Wilson in behalf of the political and financial difficulties of the republic, was believed to have arrived at Havana Wednesday. It is known that prior to his departure he was in conference with prominent Republican Senators, including Knox. Whether Crowder has called any report as to the situation in Cuba yesterday could not be ascertained, but his name was linked with the increased concern of the Senate.

Politics Acute.
Although it is realized that special committees of the Senate and House would have no authority to interfere in Cuban affairs, until conditions had reached the point where the Platt amendment might become operative, there was a strong sentiment that the "informal observation committees" would have a salutary effect upon the existing political groups. Cuba's financial troubles are held to be the result of the utilization by the existing political bitterness growing out of the November elections. Some sort of a show down is looked for on February 1, when the Platt amendment expires. Adjustment of the controversy over the presidency, it is felt, would go far toward aiding a satisfactory settlement of the financial problem.

Dr. Manuel R. Angulo, representative of the Cuban Liberal party in Washington, declared last night the Liberal party would be especially pleased to have a visit of inquiry made by a Senate committee.

England Will Return Bodies of Yank Heroes

The bodies of Americans who fought with the British armies and were killed will be returned to the United States for burial if relatives desire in cases where it can be shown that the men were American citizens prior to their enlistment in the British forces, it was indicated yesterday by the War Department.

It is the desire of the British government, says the War Department announcement, "to meet the wishes of the United States government in every possible way and of precedent there is to be required in connection with each request concerning the removal of the bodies of Americans lying within British jurisdiction, provided a soldier made his death while a member of a British unit."

The bodies of these Americans will be returned to the United States under the same conditions as apply to those who died while fighting in our army.

Grecian Officer Assassinated.

ATHENS, Jan. 7.—Col. Patras, a pro-Venizelist officer, was assassinated here yesterday. He was former president of the permanent court-martial, and the murder was believed to have resulted from his condemnation of 260 royalist soldiers at Larissa.

Trounces Russ As Betrayer of Czar and Army

Special Cable Dispatch to The Washington Herald.

BERLIN, Jan. 7.—Alexander Guekhov, famous Russian Zemstvo leader, head of the Russian war purchasing department during the war, and for a short time minister of war in the Kerensky cabinet, was soundly pummeled on the street here by a former Russian officer, who accused him of betraying the Czar and causing demoralization of the Russian army in 1917.

The officer, Lieut. Taburitsky, recognized Guekhov at an elevated station and flew at him in a rage. With the cry: "You here! Traitor!" he struck him again and again. The crowd was inclined to take sides with M. Guekhov, who is understood and well along in years, but Taburitsky won their sympathies by shouting that Guekhov was anti-German and one of the strongest partisans for a war against Germany in 1914. The pummeling continued until the police came to the rescue.

Guekhov heads the anti-Bolshevik organization of Russian exiles here. (Copyright, 1921, Public Ledger Co.)

DETENTION HOUSE CONDITION FLAYED IN CLUB'S REPORT

Resolution Urges Demand On Congress to Give Larger Funds.

A demand for appropriations from Congress to remedy the deplorable conditions said to exist in the House of Detention is included in a resolution passed last night by the Public Safety group of the City Club. A detailed report, specifying the necessary improvements and desired equipment, was presented by Claude W. Owen, chairman.

"Unspeaking conditions" were described in the report, which charged that it is necessary to have four inmates sleep in a single bed hardly fit for one person. Improper housing facilities and insanitary buildings, with lack of furnishings and equipment, unsatisfactory working conditions and insufficient salaries for the employees are described.

The act of Congress in providing appropriations for improvements without corresponding amounts for upkeep and care was scored by the body. Criticism of the "red tape" which prevents the utilization of the home of surplus supplies now going to waste in East Potomac Park was heard. The club took a stand of denouncing the neglect and urged that Congress be urged to appropriate the needed amounts.

SLAIN GIRL'S KIN FAIL TO APPEAR

Killeen's Relatives Offer to Pay Expenses of Mrs. Harris' Funeral.

Edward V. Killeen yesterday was ordered held for action of the grand jury of Montgomery County by a coroner's jury at Rockville following an inquest over the body of Mrs. Bessie Harris, killed Tuesday night at Cabin John Bridge Hotel by a revolver shot alleged to have been fired by Killeen.

All witnesses appearing before the coroner's men save Mrs. Ruth B. Ludwig and Burnett W. Tanner, members of the party accompanying Mrs. Harris on the night of the killing, were released on their personal recognizance. Bond in the sum of $1,000 was put up for Mrs. Ludwig and Tanner by relatives of Killeen. They also have offered to pay all expenses of Mrs. Harris' burial if relatives do not appear in the next few days to claim the body, now reposing at an undertaker's shop at Rockville. Every effort of officials to get in touch with relatives so far has failed.

Killeen must remain in jail until the grand jury for the March term convenes, when his case will be considered.

Substance of testimony before the coroner's jury was that Killeen and Tanner had words over a trivial matter; that Mrs. Evelyn J. La Rue, a guest of Killeen's, took his part, striking Tanner in the face with a stick in a general melee. Mrs. Harris threw herself between Killeen and Tanner just as the former fired a revolver. The bullet penetrated her heart, according to Dr. Chas. H. Mannar, of Rockville, who performed an autopsy.

Socialists Ask Reprive For Debs and Fellows

Algernon Lee and other representatives of the Socialist party appeared yesterday to the Senate Judiciary Committee to repeal espionage laws and bring about the release of Eugene V. Debs and other "political" prisoners.

Lee argued that certain parts of the espionage law were not justified even in war time; said European laws enforced their espionage laws less drastically than the United States, and that all of them already have extended at least partial amnesty to political prisoners.

Kerensky Calls Aides.

PARIS, Jan. 7.—Alexander Kerensky, former Russian premier, has summoned thirty revolutionary leaders to meet here tomorrow in an attempt to unite all anti-Bolshevik factions.

BALLOONIST MUST RIDE FROM NORTH COUNTRY

Other Two Men in Good Condition, Says Fur Company Clerk.

JOURNEY TO TAKE 16 OR 17 DAYS, BELIEVED

All Resting Comfortably When He Left, Says Northerner.

MONTREAL, Jan. 7.—S. A. Bradbury, a clerk of the Hudson Bay Company, arrived here today from James Bay where he had welcomed the American balloonists at Moose Factory. He declared there is no likelihood of the officers reaching Rockaway before next week.

Bradbury had obtained leave to come to Montreal and was not of duty, but when the balloonists arrived he made up his mind to stay on until he had heard the adventures of the trio whose tattered uniforms gave them a woe-begone appearance. Lieut. Farrell alone had a fur coat, and all looked exhausted.

"They told us they had been roaming blindly over wild territory for four days, having no idea of their whereabouts and having practically nothing to eat apart from what Caribou droops they could gather. Loss of sleep had troubled them even more than insufficient food, and they were, in short, done in."

Almost Despaired.

"They had almost despaired of their lives until coming upon the Hudson Bay Company's post at Moose Factory. To him they expressed the utmost gratitude, and also to the officers and clerks of the company, for all they had done for them.

"There is no question that one more day such as the three spent in the Arctic would have ended their lives. Caribou meat is not by any means highly nutritive, especially when one is battling for life and worn out with fatigue. It is pure tenuity, lucky for the balloonists they happened to become stranded out there at a time when they were unusually mild for the weather of the year. The ground was only slightly covered with snow, so the most could be found easily."

First Thoughts of Kin.
"When the three adventurers had been brought inside the warmth and rested—when they had got their breath, as it were, they expressed concern as to their relatives and friends. Caribou meat is not by any means highly nutritive, especially when one is battling for life and worn out with fatigue. It is pure tenuity, lucky for the balloonists they happened to become stranded out there at a time when they were unusually mild for the weather of the year. The ground was only slightly covered with snow, so the most could be found easily."

Mr. Bradbury pointed out that the journey from Moose Factory would take about 16 or 17 days. He thought that Lieut. Farrell, who seemed to have suffered most throughout the trying experience might have to ride most of the way, but that the other two would be able to accompany him, although on foot and thereby keep warm.

"There will likely be three dog sleighs," he said, "one of them carrying a caribou in which man food, clothing and other provisions will be kept for the sixteen odd days' journey."

THREE RESCUED AS HOUSE BURNS

Father and Two Children Aroused From Sleep; Home Destroyed.

Three people, two of them small children, narrowly escaped death in a fire which destroyed the residence of C. E. Barnes, 1664 Irving avenue north west, adjoining the old Benning race track, shortly after 10 o'clock last night.

Ray Barnes, a relative residing in the adjoining house, discovered the blaze and aroused Roy Spicer and the two children who were asleep in the house.

The blaze is believed to have started from an overheated stove in the rear of the house. Estimates place the loss at $7,500. The building was owned by F. O. Barnes, 1664 Irving avenue north west, and is covered by insurance.

Evans to Represent Guards at Hearing

Joseph E. Evans, president of the Federal Guards' Relief Association, was chosen to represent the watchmen and guards in Federal buildings at the hearings on the Lehlbach bill, which would reclassify bill in Congress, by a mass meeting of these employees in Musicians' Hall, 1006 E street northwest, last night.

The ability of Evans and the attractions of the Lehlbach bill were set forth in short talks by Thomas Newell, vice president of the association; Thomas Smith, secretary; A. S. Simonton, treasurer, and J. T. Bowman, Gus Backenheimer and John J. Moran, members of the board of trustees.

Other Two Men in Good Condition, Says Fur Company Clerk.

JOURNEY TO TAKE 16 OR 17 DAYS, BELIEVED

All Resting Comfortably When He Left, Says Northerner.

MONTREAL, Jan. 7.—S. A. Bradbury, a clerk of the Hudson Bay Company, arrived here today from James Bay where he had welcomed the American balloonists at Moose Factory. He declared there is no likelihood of the officers reaching Rockaway before next week.

Bradbury had obtained leave to come to Montreal and was not of duty, but when the balloonists arrived he made up his mind to stay on until he had heard the adventures of the trio whose tattered uniforms gave them a woe-begone appearance. Lieut. Farrell alone had a fur coat, and all looked exhausted.

"They told us they had been roaming blindly over wild territory for four days, having no idea of their whereabouts and having practically nothing to eat apart from what Caribou droops they could gather. Loss of sleep had troubled them even more than insufficient food, and they were, in short, done in."

Almost Despaired.

"They had almost despaired of their lives until coming upon the Hudson Bay Company's post at Moose Factory. To him they expressed the utmost gratitude, and also to the officers and clerks of the company, for all they had done for them.

"There is no question that one more day such as the three spent in the Arctic would have ended their lives. Caribou meat is not by any means highly nutritive, especially when one is battling for life and worn out with fatigue. It is pure tenuity, lucky for the balloonists they happened to become stranded out there at a time when they were unusually mild for the weather of the year. The ground was only slightly covered with snow, so the most could be found easily."

First Thoughts of Kin.
"When the three adventurers had been brought inside the warmth and rested—when they had got their breath, as it were, they expressed concern as to their relatives and friends. Caribou meat is not by any means highly nutritive, especially when one is battling for life and worn out with fatigue. It is pure tenuity, lucky for the balloonists they happened to become stranded out there at a time when they were unusually mild for the weather of the year. The ground was only slightly covered with snow, so the most could be found easily."

Mr. Bradbury pointed out that the journey from Moose Factory would take about 16 or 17 days. He thought that Lieut. Farrell, who seemed to have suffered most throughout the trying experience might have to ride most of the way, but that the other two would be able to accompany him, although on foot and thereby keep warm.

"There will likely be three dog sleighs," he said, "one of them carrying a caribou in which man food, clothing and other provisions will be kept for the sixteen odd days' journey."

THREE RESCUED AS HOUSE BURNS

Father and Two Children Aroused From Sleep; Home Destroyed.

Three people, two of them small children, narrowly escaped death in a fire which destroyed the residence of C. E. Barnes,